

Thermal Bags by Ingrid is pleased to announce that we have been purchased by Cambro Manufacturing Company. Cambro Manufacturing is based in Huntington Beach, California, and is a leading manufacturer and supplier of equipment and supplies to the foodservice industry. We have chosen to partner with Cambro as their quality, service, innovation and customer focus blends perfectly with Thermal Bags by Ingrid's core values."

The integration of Thermal Bags by Ingrid complements Cambro's comprehensive product assortment of insulated catering and delivery products. Our shared values of providing high quality delivery systems to our foodservice operators to protect food safety and food quality provides a platform for continued growth in the delivery market.

For you, our valued customers, it will remain business as usual for the next several months. Customers will continue to process their orders directly with Thermal Bags by Ingrid to avoid any disruption of service. The only change at the current time will be invoicing by Cambro on your purchase orders. Your shipments will continue to be handled by Thermal Bags by Ingrid. Once we are completely integrated with Cambro's ordering, shipping and invoicing systems, we will announce our conversion date which we estimate to be May 2018.
